Institutional Membership

Membership is on a calendar year basis. If you join partway through the year, the contribution for that year will be adjusted proportionally. Membership is automatically renewed each year. Cancellation can only take place at the end of the calendar year, unless the member states that they wish to terminate on a shorter notice. The contribution for the current year remains due. Late cancellation will result in the membership – including the associated financial obligations – ending only at the end of the current calendar year.
