About the event

We see this moment in time - with the focus of CSW67, and the UN Water Conference taking place right after - as an important moment to build a bridge between SDG's 5, 6 and 9. Women and girls, in all their diversity, are already leading on innovative solutions using technology to advance climate and gender justice. For example, by advancing technological solutions for retaining floodwater and using it for irrigation, or for accessible early-warning systems in case of climate emergency.

These women-led water solutions will be the core of the event, with initiatives from the Asian and African continent.

The event will include a showing of the "Water Song", performed by choir and marimba band from St Dominic's Priory School, Gqeberha, South Africa, introduced by Kendra (aged 15).
